The Django templates do not ³ allow you to pass data from the view to the template, but they also provide some limited features of a programming ³ as variables, for loops, comments, extensions, etc. This article discusses how ³ use the tag extends in templates. 1. This will make it super easy to iterate over lists. If the variable is evaluated to a string, Django uses that string as the name of the parent template. Otherwise, you may end up looping several times. If the variable is evaluated as a Template object, Django will use that object as a parent template.Ã Iterate Dictionary List If you send a list of dictionaries in response, then you can refer to each item using its key. Create a template as a base template in templates/geeks.html.Ã Main template{% block content %}{% endblock %}Now create a template that uses geeks.html as the base template. Consider a project called geeksforgeeks that has a application ³ a called geeks.Ã See the following to check ³ how to create a project and application in Django.Ã In this article, we will see different examples that will help you to make a loop in the list in the template of Django. Here's an example. In our ours ID, name, age have raises 0.1, 2 respectively. Django is a powerful framework that includes batteries and provides the convenience of rendering the data in a template. You have to repeat the same code again and again. You can travel all your lists at a time simply making a loop on the list of employees, as shown below. When you send several lists to the view response, the key is to identify the correct data structure that you want to move from the template. In geeks / urls.py, from django.urls import pathfrom .views import geeks_viewurlpatterns = [Ã, Ã, Ã, Â «, geeks_view),] extends is always used with block labels so that you can inherit and overwrite. Here is the Above Example presented using a list of dictionaries. Def Test (Request): Employees = [{'ID': 1, 'Name': 'Jim', 'Age': 35}, {'Id': 2, 'Name': 'Jane', 'Age': 25},] Return Render (Request, 'Page.html', {'Employees': Employees}) In This Case, You Can Directly Access Each ListÂ ¢ â € ™ s Item Using Their Key Names INSTEAD OF USING INDEXES AS SHOWN Below {% for Employee in Employees%} ID: {{{Employee.Id}} Name: {{{Employee.Name}} AGE: {{{{ EMPLOYE.age}}} {% Endfor%} In This Article, We Have Learnt Three Different Ways to anErate Over List in Django Template. Tour a single list Let's say you have a Django view that returns 1 list to your template. template.
